Description:

TubeMix is a new original puzzle game by XComsoft where you have to build a pipe of a given configuration from pieces, choosing a suitable place for a pipe on the game board. It is not as easy, for the figure, having started the movement, can stop only colliding with another figure or a wall. Use the figures to correctly place the others. Learn starting from the training level, then try to play the hard level to check how fast you are, and if you are successful, there are nice surprises waiting for you. Each fifth level (the last level of a stage) you have to place vessels with water as shown. If the hard level is chosen, the finished boards are accessible if starting a new game. 90 interesting boards, each is more difficult than the previous one. Enter your name in the list of best players! To make yourself familiar with the game, first 10 boards are available in a free version. All updates are free!
